

Stacy Leick
Vice President
Economic Alliance for Michigan

Before joining the Economic Alliance for Michigan (EAM) in 2014 as communications director, Stacy worked for Digital First Media and CBS as a research director. She has over twenty-five years of communications, research, and marketing experience and specializes in research and writing, website development, media relations and social media content.

At EAM she spearheads the Maternity Care Project, providing education to moms-to-be about the dangers of elective C-sections and elective early delivery. The project is also leading efforts in discovering ways to lessen racial disparities in maternal and infant care within the State of Michigan. Learn more at www.maternitycareproject.com.

Stacy is a decorated graduate of Oakland University, winning awards for writing and research. Outside of EAM, Stacy loves being outside enjoying all the seasons of Michigan with her family and coaching middle school sports.
